VISITOR TIPS

Communication

Australia's country code is (+61). This is used for both land lines and mobile phones. The area code for Queensland land lines is (07) but the zero is left off when calling from outside of Australia (i.e. the code would become +61 7). Internet coverage is available across Australia and many hotels, bars and restaurants offer free WiFi connectivity.

Currency

Australia has its own currency, the Australian dollar (AUD). ATMs across Brisbane generally accept Visa, Mastercard, Cirrus and Maestro cards. The most commonly accepted credit cards are American Express, Mastercard, Visa, JCB and their affiliates. Travellers' cheques can be exchanged at banks, Bureau de Change centres, some hotels and post offices. Banks and foreign exchange services are available throughout Brisbane. Many regional areas will not accept American Express.

Driving

You are permitted to drive in Queensland provided you hold a valid Australian or foreign licence. If your licence is in a language other than English, you should carry an English translation of it.

Drinking

The legal drinking age in Australia is 18 years. Identification is required to enter licensed premises or to purchase alcohol. All licensed premises in Brisbane are subject to a 3am lockout - where patrons who are inside licensed premises at 3am may remain until the venue closes, however no other patrons may enter or re-enter after that time.

Electrical Power Points

The Australian electrical current is 220 - 240 volts, AC 50Hz. Plus 415 volt three phase power for larger vessels.

Goods & Services Tax (GST)

A 10% Goods and Services Tax (GST) applies to most purchases and is included prior to bills being totalled. You are able to claim a refund of the GST paid on purchases if you have spent AUD$300 or more in one store, no more than 30 days before departing Australia.

Emergencies

The emergency number for police, ambulance and/or fire brigade in Australia is 000.
