

Rivergate Project Review

Halter Marine 63M MY SuRi

A 63 metre, Halter Marine built, Motor Yacht SuRi, cruised into Rivergate Marina & Shipyard in September 2013.

The then named “Rosanna Hebert” was built in 1978 as an oil rig supply boat, before being sold in 1986 to Pacific Northwest buyers to be converted into a crab fishing boat in the North Pacific. Before her new owners bought her and converted her into a private yacht, she was featured as an expedition ship on American TV Show, The World’s Deadliest Catch.

Her current owners have now converted the vessel into a 63 metre Superyacht, drawing 3.35m, and able to accommodate 12 guests along with leisure craft which include: helicopter, seaplanes, tenders, jetskis, kayaks, rowing vessels, dive gear, to name just a few of the toys.

MY SuRi arrived at Rivergate in September 2013 to undergo upgrade works and departed in December 2013; returning in January 2014 for a further three month maintenance period after being elated with the previous works completed at Rivergate.

SuRi selected Rivergate to undergo reconstruction of the vessels glasshouse and furniture; construction of new walk in fridge/freezers and crew galley, plus a long list of maintenance, survey and enhancement works.

The sundeck and glasshouse furniture were all custom built using marine ply, resine coated carcass’ that were filled and fared and finished in AWLGrip to the highest refinish standards. All teak furniture tops were hand-crafted and finished in two-pac varnish.

Each of the guest ensuites were refurbished using striking white Venatino marble from floor to ceiling.

Other works carried out on the motor yacht included:

- Construction of sundeck and glass house high-end furniture
- New walk in fridge/freezers, plant and equipment
- Construction of new crew galley
- Re-marble four guest ensuites Strip and re-coat of 400m² of the hanger deck floor
- Installation of new atlas system
- Removal and replacement of circuit breaker panels throughout vessel
- Installation of new fresh water softening and steriliser
- Overhaul of all hydraulic pumps and systems
- Extensive engineering modifications throughout vessel

“Rivergate was delighted in the outcome of the extensive exterior furnish work and its world class finish. Overall, this was a successful job for Rivergate and the Owner of MY SuRi”.
